

Cornell Takes Rugby Tourney

Cornell's rugby team won both the A and B Division New York State titles last Saturday at the University of Rochester. In the A Division, Cornell defeated Binghamton 10-3, Syracuse 15-3, and the Rochester City Club, 24-6.

In the B Division, Cornell topped Brockport State 12-0, the Buffalo club, 12-7, and Rochester, 12-7.

In the A Division, Cornell's Doug Strachan scored a total of 13 points and Gary VanSlyke also had an outstanding game. In the B Division, Tom O'Shaughnessy scored a remarkable total of 24 points in the three games. Gary Coy and Dan Brummel also had good series.

This was the first time that a Cornell team has ever won the state title.

This weekend, Cornell's A and B Division ruggers will see action on the east end of Upper Alumni Field, hosting the Binghamton B team at noon, and the A Division team immediately following. On Sunday, at the same location, Cornell's B Division team will host Syracuse's city club at noon, followed by the A Division game.
